

Please do not implement a telephone privacy regulation that is less restrictive than Indiana's or that overrides Indiana's current law. Our home life has improved tremendously, especially at supper time. We now only receive approximately one call a month as compared to two or three per night. I personally appreciate the improved quality of life and am glad to have our law in place. I would think that our right to privacy in our home would take priority over a marketer/surveyor's right to call us. Such folks have other options such as regular mail. Thanks.
